Is all this about

```
#include <header.h>

in existing code? (instead of #include "header.h" or something like that).

I am not quite sure about it either. In ANY CASE, it should NOT accept absolute paths, or at least, warn about them.

I agree with you about warn when set full path in include option by package.

Another question is where need to add include option by package by order?
After GetVar("UPP")?
can I add it in svn with all changes requested?
