Is there a specific reason for Ultimate++ to stay on subversion?
I would like to propose to create a slack.com channel for ultimate++, it is a IRC-style webchat of sorts, lots of c++ developers use it.

see cpplang.slack.com

I guess you need to PM Mirek and ask him to invite you. He will need your email, or, probably, it is stored with your forum registration info.

PS: I also would like to get invited
