Because codeproject is dead and a lot has changed in the world nowadays i see reddit as the best or one of the best places for promoting u++. I have created a unofficial community for u++ on it https://www.reddit.com/r/ultimatepp_u++/ . If you have willingness and time, please, read and discuss. Or join an contribute even old articles if you still have them. Thanks in advance.

Hi Aris!

I've replied in your reddit forum. It seems to be focused on web application. In this scenario the designer loose its importance and VS Code maybe the right tool.

Have you noticed that thanks to AI (Claudio Antropico) I've been able to integrate on all platforms a native browser? It was not an easy journey. You must put it on the right track and be its eyes and hears to get what you need. However it was a fascinating task as I, that didn't know anything about it, and it/him that guess what should be done were able to achieve a challengin task.

Best regards,
Luigi
